QUILTER'S RETREAT

Our fall Quilter's Retreat was another successful experience for all participants. Ladies came to work on quilts, wall hangings, cross stitching, and even jewelry making! The weekend provided dedicated space and time to make great progress on all their projects. Some participants were early risers while others chose to work late into the night. Mary Yoder (our Food Service Director), along with Jill White & Les Miller, prepared great meals for the retreat. The participants appreciated not having to cook all weekend, and as one quilter put it, "Having someone else plan and cook the meals is fabulous."

A tradition for the quilter's retreat is to have a Show and Tell. Participants are encouraged to show off their masterpieces and works in progress. Each project has a story whether it's for something (or someone) special or just for fun. Everything made is certainly a work of art and invaluable. Ladies often work on things that are to be sold at the MCC sale in Rocky Ford – offering their talents and skills to a great cause.

PASTOR'S RETREAT

The final program retreat of the year is Pastor's Retreat. This retreat is for all Mountain States Mennonite Conference pastor's to join us on the mountain for a time of fellowship, comradery, and rejuvenation. The youth pastors of the Conference arrived a day before the retreat to talk together and build a stronger connection between the church youth ministries.

A crazy question and answer game started the weekend with lots of good laughs. A Saturday morning session opened discussion between pastors (and spouses) as well as small group sharing. The weekend also included free time for rest, chatter, and fun. The talent pastors in our Conference lead music during worship times and an evening hymn sing which ended with a spirit filled and energetic singing of "This little light of mine."

One pastor said things they appreciated about the weekend was, "the setting, opportunity for relaxed conversation, input we can chew on, being with friends, staff and colleagues, [and] being ministered to rather than doing the ministering."

Men's Retreat 2011 participants had a great time playing Human Curling! Register online today for Men's Retreat 2012.
